THE 25TH ANNIVERSARY OF THE BECKER AWARD

The history of philanthropy in the United States has been unique in terms of its scope and generosity. Throughout that history generous benefactors have emerged to help focus attention on aspects of the human condition in need of better understanding and support. The establishment of the Becker Award at Indiana State University in 1965 forms part of that great philanthropic tradition.

The Becker Award was established by generous gifts to the Indiana State University Foundation by Mr. and Mrs. Herman B. Becker. The fund also has been augmented through the years by the generous gifts of friends and members of the Becker family.

The initial purpose of the Becker Award was to recognize "Excellence in Special Education." As the area of special education grew and developed, so too did the Department of Special Education, which, in 1979, was renamed the Department of Special Education, School Psychology and Communication Disorders. With the subsequent reorganization of the School of Education in 1981, the department was subdivided into three separate departments. The Becker Award is now identified with the doctoral program in School Psychology. The award is presented annually to the most outstanding doctoral student in the School Psychology program.

The Becker Award constitutes the highest honor that a doctoral student can receive within the School Psychology program. The past recipients of this award are a most distinguished group of alumni whose outstanding accomplishments are recognized elsewhere in this publication.

It is with a great sense of pride and a deep sense of gratitude that we commemorate the 25th anniversary of the establishment of the Becker Award at Indiana State University.

Director of Training Programs in School Psychology

HERMAN D. BECKER

A proud and spirited Hoosier, Herman D. Becker was born in Terre Haute, where he followed his father's footsteps in becoming a distinguished business and community leader.

He served as president of the Ben Becker Shoe Company and its subsidiary, the Shoe Merchandising Corporation, until the businesses were sold to the Brown Shoe Company of St. Louis in 1964.

He continues to serve as president of the Becker Corporation, a holding corporation for real estate and business investments. Mr. Becker moved the headquarters of the company to Florida, when he and his wife, Jackie, took up permanent residence in 1974.

Mr. Becker was a dedicated public servant during his years of residence in Terre Haute, a pattern he has continued in Florida.

He has received numerous honors for his public service including the Jaycees Community Service Award, the Terre Haute Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Citizens Award and the Junior Chamber of Commerce Distinguished Citizens Award and has been named a Sagamore of the Wabash and an honorary Kentucky Colonel. He is an honorary life member of the Indiana State University Foundation Board of Directors, Junior Chamber of Commerce of Terre Haute and the Junior Chamber of International Commerce.

He is a member of the Boca Raton, State of Florida and National Association of Realtors, and the Florida Association of Mortgage Brokers. He also is a member of the International Council of Shopping Centers, Boca Chamber of Commerce's Economic Development Council, Gifts Committee of the Boca Raton Community Hospital, Rotary Club of Boca and FAU Foundation President's Organization.

Jacqueline L. Becker was born in New York City, the only child of Judge Frances W. Lehrich and the late Henry Lehrich. She is a graduate of Vassar College, where she majored in music and dramatic production.

Following her graduation from Vassar, she went to work for Decca Record Company in the Artist Relations Department working with such well-known recording artists as Bing Crosby, Danny Kaye, the Andrews Sisters, Ella Fitzgerald and others. She accompanied these prominent performers on their personal appearances throughout the country.

It was on one of those trips to Chicago that she met Herman D. Becker. They were married in 1950. They have two children, Susan and Richard.

Mrs. Becker shared her husband's avid interest in community affairs. She became the youngest president of the Florence Crittendon Home and was elected to the national board of that organization. She also was a board member of the Terre Haute Symphony, the United Fund and the Vigo County Mental Health Association, and was a founder and officer of the Mothers Group of the PTA at her children's schools.

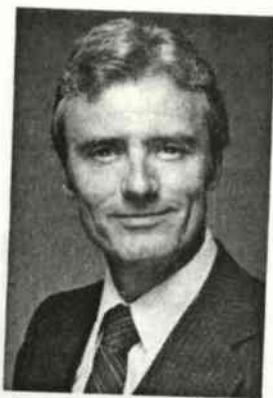

In 1960, Mrs. Becker was contacted by a fellow alumna of Vassar, Jacqueline Kennedy, who solicited her help on the presidential campaign of John F. Kennedy. It was in response to President Kennedy's inaugural address which included the famous quotation, "Ask not what your country can do for you, but ask rather what you can do for your country," that Mrs. Becker helped to found a vocal and progressive group of more than 2,000 women. Known as H.E.L.P. (Housewives Effort for Local Progress), the organization dealt so effectively with local issues that its impact was felt at state and national levels.

Mrs. Becker has continued her involvement in community activities in addition to her demanding work as a real estate broker. She is vice president of Trade Winds Realty which specializes in the sale of luxury oceanfront condominiums and homes in the Boca Raton area.

Robert R. Drummond

December 12, 1916

June 22, 1982

Vigo County Public Library

Robert R. Drummond

Robert R. Drummond was born December 12, 1916, in Clark County, Illinois. Sixty-five years and six months later he was buried in Metzger Cemetery, surrounded by the ripening wheat, corn, and soybeans that absorbed the labors of his youth. He did not want to farm, preferring instead to teach. But no one loved the land more than he, nor was more deeply rooted to it.

He earned a doctor of philosophy degree in geography. For thirty-seven years he opened the eyes of ten thousand and more students to the relationship of man to the land. He was curious, and he was always engaged in research. But his professional home was the classroom.

He served five and a half years in the United States Army in World War II. He learned to pack and lead mules, ride to a cavalry guidon, command a tank, manage a supply depot. But he took special pride in the raw recruits who became disciplined units under his command. For fifteen months he was in the Philippines. He retired in 1976 from the active reserves, with the rank of lieutenant colonel.

He read and travelled widely, and all that he encountered he viewed from his keen perspective of time and place. This, in turn, he translated into a thousand tales. He will be remembered above all as a story-teller, illuminating his world with gentle humor.

Robert had one sister, Kathleen. In 1953 he married Dorothy Weitz. Their daughters are Kathleen, Gael, and Martha. These who loved him take strength in his legacy.

Father, Husband, Brother

Love is always patient and kind; it is never jealous; love is never boastful or conceited; it is never rude or selfish; it does not take offense, and is not resentful. Love is always ready to excuse, to trust, to hope, and to endure whatever comes.

In short, there are three things that last: faith, hope, and love; and the greatest of these is love. (1 Cor. 13)

Keep your father's principles. Bind them ever to your heart. When you walk, these will guide you; when you lie down, watch over you; when you wake, talk with you. (Prov. 5)

Friend

Rejoice with those who rejoice and be sad with those in sorrow. Treat everyone with equal kindness. Never be condescending, but make real friends with the poor. Do not allow yourself to become self-satisfied. Never repay evil with evil. Do all you can to live at peace with everyone. (Rom. 12)

Teacher

The heart of him that hath understanding seeketh knowledge. The tongue of a wise man distills knowledge. (Prov. 15) He whose heart is wise is proclaimed discerning; sweetness of speech makes words the more persuasive. (Prov. 16)

If you would learn more, ask the cattle, seek information from the birds of the air. The creeping things of the earth will give you lessons, and the fish of the sea will tell you all. (Job 12)

I have considered the days of old, the years of ancient times. (Ps. 77) Remove not the ancient landmark, which thy fathers have set. (Prov. 22)

Citizen, Soldier

Where there is no vision, the people perish. (Prov. 30)

Life without a sense of responsibility is a life without meaning. The absolute freedom which so many dream of and seek is but an illusion, an immature notion in direct opposition to life's reality. (Valedictory, VMI '69)

A long war produces upon a democratic army the same effects that a revolution produces upon a people; it breaks through regulations and allows extraordinary men to rise above the common level. (de Tocqueville)

Man of Faith

The fool hath said in his heart, "There is no god." (Ps. 77) When I consider thy heavens, the moon and the stars, what is man, that thou art mindful of him? (Ps. 8)

I will say of the Lord: He is my refuge and my fortress: My God: in him will I trust. (Ps. 91)

If there is a gift of knowledge, the time will come when it must fail. For our knowledge is imperfect; but once perfection comes, all imperfect things will disappear. Now we are seeing a dim reflection in a mirror; but then we shall be seeing face to face. The knowledge that I have now is imperfect; then I shall know as fully as I am known. (I Cor. 13)

I have fought a good fight, I have finished my course, I have kept the faith: Henceforth there is laid up for me a crown of righteousness. (II Tim. 4)

Entries for the Scout Fair are reaching the office at a rapid pace. The Kineuma District is leading the way at this time. Let's keep up the good work. If you have questions concerning the fair, contact the District Executive. Bob Smith, Committee Chairman of Post 121 is in charge of the Cub Section of the Scout Fair. If you have questions relating to the Cub part of the Fair he is more than glad to help you.

Congratulations to the more new units in the Kineuma District. Boy Scout Troop 313, sponsored by the Fuqua School PTA, with Bob Smith as Scoutmaster. Explorer Post 397, sponsored by the Army Reserve Center, with Leo Ford as Explorer Advisor. This Post will have a post specialty of Law Enforcement. They also plan to organize a drill team. Congratulations to both of these new units.

Al Siebenmorgan and the Camping and Activities Committee have an outstanding Camporee planned for the Kineuma District. Be sure your troop gets their registration in right away.

The campsites at Camp Krietenstein are being reserved at a fast pace as of this writing. If your unit has a favorite campsite, get your reservation in right away.

The Kineuma District Camp Leaders Training Session was well attended on April 7th. For those units who missed this important meeting, they can get the information at the Covered Bridge Camp Leaders Training Session on April 21, 1965. The meeting will be held at the Christus Victor Lutheran Church, which is located at the intersection of Lafayette Avenue and By-Pass #41. Meeting will start at 7:30 p.m.

Work days are being held at Camp Krietenstein almost every Saturday. If you have the time, any help that you may be able to give would be greatly appreciated. Call the Boy Scout Service Center and let them know when you can help. A hot noon lunch is furnished.

There are three types of people: Those who live off the Community, those who live in it, and those who live for it.

SUMMER CAMP REGISTRATION

Watch the chart fill up. The early bird gets the campsite he wants. Camp is now 60% full. Do you have your site nailed down?

SKILL-O-RAMA NEW FEATURE OF SCOUT FAIR

A new and different event is the Skill-o-rama, an outdoor show composed of a great variety of different skills and demonstrations. Troops who do things well will have a chance to really "strut their stuff" and show off their talents and abilities. The Skill-o-rama is to the Scout Fair what the side show is to the circus - all color, action, motion and fun.

Units having booths may also enter the Skill-o-rama, and, in some cases, the activity in the Skill-o-rama may be a carry-over from the booth display. As an example, the troop building model rockets or airplanes will not be able to fly them in the booth, but they can launch them during the Skill-o-rama.

The Skill-o-rama will take place from 6:00 to 8:00 pm. between the closing of the booth show and the evening pageant. We have a good selection of activities registered for this event, but not nearly enough of them to fill the area. Let us know what you would like to show off.

Mothers To Operate Trading Post

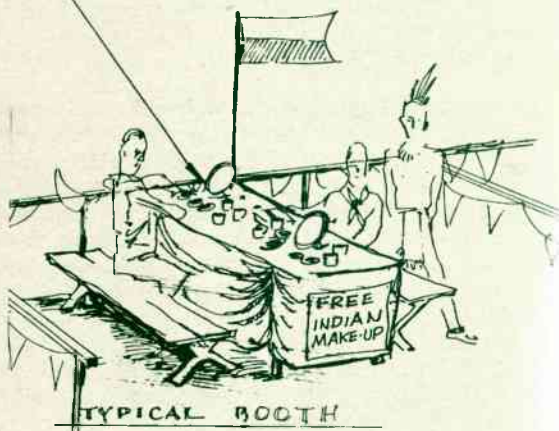

The Mother's Federation will again operate their Trading Post and we urge every member and every visitor to patronize their booth for refreshments and meals.

IT'S A GOOD DEAL....

In the first place, you can't eat any cheaper anywhere, secondly, you can't get any better food...it's all home-cooked, and thirdly, all of their profit will go into some fine new equipment for camp.

All mothers are invited to take part in this activity, whether your troop has a mother's club or not...and if you don't have a mother's club and want some help in getting one organized, the Federation will help you to do it.

Call Mrs. John Copra, H 7013 in Terre Haute, or drop a word to your Scout Service Center.

CUB SHOW REALLY MOVING

We might say that the Cub show is moving forward on toe-heel and canoe-steps. All Cubmasters and Den Mothers received detailed instructions on indian dance steps last week - and if you listen intently you should hear the beat of tom-toms in every neighborhood. One of the things that added so much to last years show was the beautiful costuming of the Cub leaders as well as the boys and we certainly want to urge a continuance of this practice.

Bobby Smith and Bob Wiemuth have attended every roundtable, and will meet with Cub leaders when and as needed for information, help and instructions.

ATTACK ON FT. HARRISON TO HIGHLIGHT PAGEANT

Fort at base

The highlight of the pageant will be a reenactment of the Indian attack and attempted burning of Fort Harrison. We will need Colonial soldiers by the dozens - and Indians by the hundreds for this spectacular so it looks as though every boy who wants to be in the pageant will have an opportunity. There will be one rehearsal scheduled for an evening preceding the 15th, probably on Friday May 14th, but all participants will be notified.

The climax of the show will, we hope, include every Cub, Scout and Explorer in the council, with every troop, pack and post carrying their unit flag and their American flag. As the boys march in, a display of fireworks will form a backdrop for this impressive closing ceremony. Nothing we can do will show the size and strength of Scouting to a greater advantage.

Terre Haute - Biography

TO THE MEMORY OF

CHRISTOPHER W. BROWN

CHRISTOPHER W. BROWN

Was born in Richland County, Ohio, December 26, 1821 and died, Terre Haute, Ind., Sunday evening, May 13, 1906, aged eighty-four years, four months and seventeen days. On Wednesday, May 16, the body was committed to the grave in Woodland Cemetery by the Independent Order of Odd Fellows.

The deceased was the son of John E. Brown and Sarah E. Brown, both of whom were born in Richland County, Ohio. The father was a farmer by occupation and his parents came from Pennsylvania. The mother's people came from England. The family moved to Vigo County, Indiana, in September, 1836 and settled about four miles east of Terre Haute. There were seven children then in the family and four were born afterwards in Indiana.

The father died seven miles east of Terre Haute, September 25, 1845. The mother moved to Parke County, where about the year 1852, she married Col. Garrigus. Subsequently she made her home with her son-in-law, Alfred B. Pegg on Fruit Ridge Avenue, three miles east of Terre Haute, and died there May 15, 1865.

DANIEL C., born 1841, and is now living at Onargo, Ill.

CHRISTOPHER W. BROWN, the subject of the biographical sketch, was fifteen years old when he arrived in Vigo County and began his career. He had attended school in Ohio. The first three years after arrival in Indiana he attended a Vigo County school three months each year. Mr. Tacitus Hussey, now of Des Moines, Iowa, and who left Terre Haute some fifty years ago, "remembers that the only school he ever attended with Christopher was in a little log school house about a mile north of the Bloomington road and a quarter mile south of the National road near the Zadoc Reeves place. It was in a dense woods except perhaps an acre or so cleared around the immediate locality of the school. The teacher was a man by the name of Eagle. I remember C. W. BROWN as a pale faced, studious looking boy. He was one of the best and most advanced scholars in the school."

He taught his first school in Vigo County when about eighteen years of age, and there are several of his pupils yet residents in the eastern part of the county who will remember him.

MR. BROWN early in years became enamored of newspaper life. When not attending school or teaching he found employment in the printing offices, and rapidly advanced in the profession from the "devil" and newsboy up to the editorial chair. He saw much of the work of such men as Jas. B. Edmunds and I. W. Brown, who set up their editorials from the case without written copy. He worked at times in all the several newspaper offices, and when the Chapman's disposed of the "Wabash Enquirer," which they had first published July 4, 1838, he went with them to Indianapolis and worked on the Indianapolis Sentinel when it was first published. Then he returned to Terre Haute and worked on the Express under Danaldson and made his home for a time in the Danaldson family. In the fall of 1846 he went to Rockville, Parke County. It is understood he taught a school in that county at least one term, then engaged in the newspaper business and either owned or partly owned and edited a Democratic paper in Rockville, 1846-48. He then went to Greencastle and published the Putnam County Sentinel several years. He sold that paper to a brother of Murray Briggs of Sullivan, Ind., and in 1853 or 1854 he purchased the "Prairie City" which had been founded about 1850 by James B. Edmunds and Isaac N. Coltrin. Brown sold that paper to Wentzer, returned to Greencastle and purchased the "Greencastle Banner," which he continued to publish several years. He was appointed and served at Greencastle as postmaster during the Lincoln administration. Returning to Terre Haute in 1866 or 1867 he engaged in the Job Printing business with W. H. Buckingham. They introduced the first steam power printing press ever used in Terre Haute. In 1868 the "Gazette" was founded by O. J. Smith and C. W. BROWN. In 1869 both the proprietors were shot by E. S. Erney. Mr. Brown carried the ball in his body all his after years. After disposing of his interests in the Gazette, he founded the Globe Job Printing Business, which he operated until a few months prior to his death.

MR. BROWN never held any public office excepting that of postmaster at Greencastle during Lincoln's administration and as a member of the Vigo County Council. He took an active part in the organization of the Republican party in Indiana, in 1856, and was a Fremont voter that year. He was a delegate to the district convention held in the old Court House in Terre Haute, and was one of the clerks of that convention.

He was initiated a member of Terre Haute Lodge No. 51, I. O. O. F., December 2, 1854, but withdrew from that lodge, taking a final card Sept. 1, 1855, and became a member of Putnam Lodge No. 45. Upon his return to Terre Haute, after an absence of nearly twelve years, he again applied for membership in No. 51 and was elected June 14, 1867. He was a faithful attendant and his integrity so well known that his brethren almost continuously re-elected him as their Treasurer for a quarter of a century.

He was also a member of Vigo Encampment No. 17, I. O. O. F., from Aug. 19, 1868, to his death. In all, he was an Odd Fellow fifty-one and one-half years, and a member of the Encampment branch nearly thirty-eight years.

He was a member of Social Lodge No. 86, F. & A. M., since June 17, 1872, and to which may be added the years he belonged to a lodge at Greencastle.

C. W. BROWN and Sarah Ann Hill, of Sullivan, Ind., were married Feb. 10, 1846, the wedding ceremony being performed in Terre Haute at the home of John Wood, a brother-in-law of the bride. Miss Hill was born March 27, 1826, and died May 11, 1856. Five children were born to them, of whom three are yet living: Mrs. Anna M. Allison, born Oct. 17, 1849, and now living in Chicago, Ill.; Chas. W. Brown, born January 9, 1852, and now living at Lebanon, Ind.; Mrs. John Morse, born April 30, 1854, and now living at Lewis, Ind.

The marriage of C. W. BROWN and Maria (Rose) Fritz, his second wife, occurred at Greencastle Dec. 1856, the ceremony being performed by the Rev. Wm. Wilson, who the previous year had been pastor of Asbury Church in Terre Haute. Mrs. Fritz was born in Ohio August 30, 1830, and survives her husband. There were four children born to them, all of whom are living in Terre Haute, namely, Abbott, Harry, Frank and Miss Rose Brown.

C. W. BROWN arrived in this community when a youth of fifteen and dwelt in it seventy years. He attained considerable prominence, an extended acquaintance and made life-long friends. There was a degree of poverty in the parent family that required him to leave its shelter early. His education was received in the country common schools. Experience and observation in newspaper circles no doubt polished his mental faculties and fitted him to succeed in the line of business he adopted. He was modest in self-pretensions and maintained his individuality without arrogance; was a congenial companion; never indulged in profanity or vulgarity; was not given to drinking or to the use of tobacco or to any excess of habit; was honest and upright in business transactions; his word being always at par, was never subject to discount by those who knew him. While not a member of the church, he always held old "Asbury" in his heart as his choice for affiliation.

C. W. BROWN has passed to the beyond. His record of four score and four years and more is creditable and honorable. Those who knew him well will ever fondly cherish his memory. This tribute to his memory by his friend of forty years.

Dear Educators, Staff Members and Fellow Citizens:

Among the important local officials to be chosen in the forthcoming primary election is Judge of Superior Court of Vigo County. I write to you at this time as the Democrat nominee for this position and earnestly solicit your support.

Born in Terre Haute forty-three years ago, I have served as a State Representative from Vigo County, as deputy prosecutor for Vigo County and as the county's public defender. In addition to the legal welfare of the community, I have been active in the Vigo County Heart Fund, including acting as the Terre Haute fund co-chairman in 1966. I have served on the board of Christopher Center in Dresser and have served as the president of the Terre Haute Deanery School Board. I feel that this involvement in educational activities has helped to make me aware of many of the problems about which you as educators are concerned.

All of us today are disturbed about environmental pollution, but as a candidate for Superior Court Judge, I am deeply sensitive to another kind of pollution -- moral pollution. As Judge, I would seek the protection of children from broken homes under the jurisdiction of the Court; increase the enforcement of contempt citations against fathers not supporting their children so that the burden of raising their families does not fall on the taxpayers; and enforce the new Indiana Rules of Procedure designed to secure the just, speedy and inexpensive determination of every action.

However, enforcement after the fact is only part of the solution. It seems to me that prevention is the more logical approach to the problem and therefore I would support and encourage school-sponsored conferences where faculty members, administrators, and local officials can learn from one another. I will also encourage student internships in local government in an attempt to give students first hand exposure to governmental and agency problems.

Teachers and judges, as respective ministers of education and justice, have the unequalled burden of leading the way in our quest for a community where educated, free individuals willfully submit to intelligent and fair laws, intelligently and fairly applied. Please let me assure you that I will continue to work with all of you in achieving an atmosphere in this community that is conducive to the proper growth and development of our young people.

I would sincerely appreciate your support and your vote.

Sincerely,

Richard J. Cronin

As we gather at the table,
And watch each smiling face,
The heart fills with emotion,
To see the vacant place,
We may strive to bid one longing,
In the midst of mirth and fun,
But we're thinking, thinking, thinking,
Of the loved, the absent one.

When we gather round the fireside,
With merry laugh and jest,
How we wish the absent dear one,
Was here with all the rest;
Still we join in all the frolics,
But we wish the day was done,
For we're thinking, thinking, thinking,
Of the loved, the absent one.

Yet when the day is over,
And they all have gone to rest,
We feel the Heavenly Father,
Does all things for the best,
So we cheer our drooping spirits,
With the rising of the sun,
But we can't help thinking, thinking,
Of the loved, the absent one.

EDYTHMAY C. DIERDORF

Born May 31, 1918
Died January 27, 1929
Laid to rest April 9, 1929

EDYTHMAY CAROLINE was a bright-eyed jovial girl, much liked by everyone who knew her. She was ambitious and talented, a lover of music, always interested in school and liked to sew.

Edythmay was born at Indianapolis, Ind. She was our fourth daughter and fifth child of a family of ten children, our son Robert having passed on Feb. 10, 1922, age 20 months.

We came to Brazil, Indiana April 9, 1920 and to West Terre Haute July 6, 1923.

On Sunday, Jan. 27, 1929 about 9 a.m., with her sisters, Pauline and Wilma, she started for Sunday School at 12th and Eagle Streets, Terre Haute. The girls left West Terre Haute on a city street car and when they arrived at 7th Street in Terre Haute, Edythmay called at a newspaper stand to get some papers for which she had customers. Her sisters remained on the car until it reached 12th street. Edythmay attended Sunday School, delivered her papers, and then started toward 7th street leaving her sisters at 12th street waiting for a car. When the car arrived at 7th street, Edythmay was on the sidewalk. She pointed east, holding up a paper, indicating to her sisters in the car that she had another customer for an extra paper. This was the last time she was seen alive.

On Monday, Jan. 28th her newspaper bag was found, stained with blood, 34 miles south of Terre Haute on the Dixie Bee Highway at a point where it crosses Busseron Creek.

A search of the creek and bottom lands was made by a large number of citizens assisted by two air-planes, but due to bad weather and high waters no trace of her body was found.

Citizens of West Terre Haute and Terre Haute raised money for two rewards, one of $1000 for the finding of her body, the other of $2000 for the capture and arrest of her kidnapper and murderer.

On Sunday, April 7, Mr. Nimrod Slaven, Supt. of the Pleasantville, Ind. schools found the body in the Busseron Creek, 2½ miles from the bridge on the Dixie Bee Highway. Her hands were wired together and so were the feet. Her scarf was knotted about her neck, two handkerchiefs in her mouth and two wounds on her head.

Identification was made by her ring and clothing

Funeral services were held at the Congregational Church in West Terre Haute and at the St. Paul's Evangelical Church in Terre Haute. She was laid to rest, at Highland Lawn Cemetery.

We'll never forget Edythmay Dierdorf,
Who in January was carried off,
By unknown hands we dare to say,
We may never know until Judgment Day.

As the people searched with eyes of pity,
They looked at friends in every city,
As they searched around with drooping head,
Little Edythmay was found lying dead.

She died by hands of wicked men,
The day and hour we know not when,
We know she has gone to a heaven of rest,
To live with God forever blest.

Silent to her, the ring of the bell,
Of the church and school she loved so well,
Her songs and music we will never forget,
It seems to us we hear them yet.

She now has paid the debt of death,
We know today in heaven, at rest,
Where all is bright and all is fair,
We know that we will meet her there.
